Moving At The Speed of Innovation: Build a Culture Where Everyone Innovates

If you aren't continually innovating and pivoting, you are on a fast path to irrelevance. To compete and win in today's ever-changing, fast-paced landscape, organizations and leaders must learn to create a culture where innovation is the norm and adaptability is the requirement from people of all levels of the organization.

Tamara Kleinberg

Companies ranging from Disney, US Army, Clorox, Procter & Gamble, NASA and General Mills call Tamara when they need to unlock innovation. She is the founder of LaunchStreet, a global organization that helps leaders operationalize innovation via live engagements, online courses and their proprietary assessment, the only tool that helps people understand how they naturally innovate. She is the author of Think Sideways: Game-Changing Playbook For Disruptive Thinking and a contributor to Innovation Excellence. She has been featured on The Today Show, New York Times and media across the country.

Three Main Core Competencies

Creativity/Innovation, Decision Making, Change

This course is appropriate for:

A = Leader of Others; B = Leader of Leaders; C = Leader of Self
